County declares RV Park a public menace

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Monday hosted a public hearing to determine whether the Frontier RV Park, located at 5028 and 5030 Lower Bay Road, is a menace to the public health and safety of Hancock County. Anthony Cuevas, the county’s director of Planning and Zoning, building official/inspector, said that the building needs to be condemned. It does not meet International Building Codes, property maintenance codes, the Hancock County Flood Management Ordinance, and there “exists imminent danger to the life, health, and safety of the public due to the dangerous equipment of the electrical system and not maintaining sanitary conditions in regards to the sewer connections being turned off due to lack of payment.”

There is also household garbage piled on the property, he said, and the electrical and water has also been turned off.

Cuevas said that repairs need to be completed immediately by a licensed contractor.

Cuevas said he visited the property about two hours prior to Monday’s hearing.

“There are currently eight RVs on the property,” Cuevas said. “Looks like possibly two still have signs of occupancy. There are three structures, two look like a shed. They are in poor condition as well. There is a mobile home, from the outward appearance, it looks like it’s habitable, but I haven’t been in it.”

Cuevas said that the owners of Frontier Park, LLC are in litigation over ownership and one is interested in selling the property.

As far as remedies, Cuevas said that RVs and structures need to be removed. The remaining elec-of living independently thrown in right away. “I had no business going up there,” Shea said. “I tell people all the time, my Mom always took care of us. She was one of those mothers that just did everything, washed the clothes and all that. When I got up there I had never washed my own clothes at all. So, I put my clothes in the washing machine and walked away and I came back and the washing machine was stopped so I assumed it was done. There’s still water in it so I pick the clothes up and put them in the dryer and it cost me $27 in quarters to dry those clothes. I told my roommate and he said, ‘Dude, we can drive home every weekend and it would be cheaper than doing our clothes here.’”

Once they mastered the clothes washing process, it was on to the next challenge, one that changed Shea’s life fortrical system needs to be removed, and brought up to code, he said.

Craig Skinner from Alabama said he has been speaking with the owners and working on a deal to purchase the property.

“Yes, I agree with you all, it was appalling when I first saw the properties,” he said. “At that time, I told people that were there my intentions and that is to come in and do exactly what this gentleman said, bring in containers, dumpsters, loader, bulldozer, whatever I need to do and sweep that place up and clean it out. Completely shut it down and make sure everyone is out of there for a good while until the property is in condition to where I could possibly open it up as a business again.”

Skinner said he anticipates signing a contract regarding ownership within the next month.

The present owners were not at Monday’s hearing. However, Skinner said the owners are supportive of him and will provide monetary help for clean-up efforts.

Board Attorney Gary Yarborough said that if the board declared the property a menace, under statute, the board would have the right to enter the property within a year. The board could also assign a clean-up timeline to the property owners once it makes a determination.

Skinner said he plans to begin the clean-up process in the next couple of weeks and obtain a demolition permit through the present owners.

The board unanimously declared the property a menace to public health and safety.

The board also approved a motion authorizing county personnel to obtain quotes for demolition if the owner does not clean up the property.

In other action during Monday’s regular board meeting:

The board approved payments to Gulf Coast Mental Health for February in the amount of $38,000 and March in the amount of $38,000.

The board approved a resolution supporting local and private legislation to authorize the county to “operate a medical clinic for its employees. Hancock County presently has a non-compete clause with Ochsner Medical Foundation concerning its lease of the Hancock Medical Center; therefore, Hancock County requests that it be statutorily authorized but not required to operate the employee clinic, so that the county may in the future consider the clinic operation to the extent it can resolve this portion of the non-compete with Ochsner.”

Yarborough said that a bill concerning this topic has yet to be written, but the county is expressing its support.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 16 at 9 a.m.

Get to know your kidneys

As I'm sure the majority of my regular staff column readers know, I'm a big advocate for kidney health.

Almost seven years ago, learning about kidneys became a matter of life and death for my dad.

Now, on March 21, he will reach a huge milestone, the one-year anniversary of his kidney transplant. I know, I can't believe it's almost been a year either.

The month of March is also National Kidney Month, and a perfect time to get to know your kidneys and what they do.

According to the National Kidney Foundation, the kidneys "regulate fluid levels, activate Vitamin D for healthy bones, filter wastes from the blood, direct production of red blood cells, regulate blood pressure, and keep blood minerals in balance."

The kidneys certainly do a lot to keep our bodies functioning at a healthy rate.

Kidney disease can cause "cardiovascular disease, nerve damage, weak bones, heart attack, high blood pressure, stroke, kidney failure, and anemia/low red blood cell count."

It's been seven years since my dad was diagnosed with kidney failure. He had to go on dialysis three times a week for almost four hours at a time.

The National Kidney Foundation defines dialysis as keeping your body in balance by "removing waste, salt, and extra water to prevent them from building up in the body and keeping a safe level of certain chemicals in your blood, such as potassium, sodium, and bicarbonate."

Undergoing dialysis is not an easy feat, but a necessary and life-saving one when the kidneys fail.

It's also important to know the risk factors for kidney disease and failure. Those are diabetes, family history, high blood pressure, and age 60 and older.

I have two of the four listed. Admittedly, I have not had a general health checkup in a while, but it's on my to-do list.

The symptoms of kidney disease include, "swelling in face, hands, abdomen, ankles, and feet; blood in urine, foamy urine; puffy eyes; difficult painful urination; increased thirst; and fatigue."

Once the news broke of my dad's transplant, I also included information about his urination. Some thought that to be too much information.

It's not. It's literally how your kidneys get rid of toxins in your body. So, it shouldn't be a sensitive

Wicker Stands for Dignity of Human Life

Senate Republicans Defend Basic Rights of the Unborn

From the beginning of my time in public office, I have worked to advance policies to defend innocent human life. Recently I joined with Senate colleagues to continue that effort. We considered two bills that would establish basic protections for children, born and unborn. Unfortunately Senate Democrats blocked both bills.

SENATE REPUBLICANS SUPPORT BASIC LIFE PROTECTIONS

One of the bills we considered was the Pain Capable Unborn Child Act, which would ban abortion after 20 weeks of pregnancy. This bill is based on scientific evidence that unborn babies at this stage can feel pain – meaning abortion is excruciating for them before it ends their life.

The second bill, the Born-Alive Abortion Survivors Protection Act, would require doctors to provide care to babies who have survived an abortion attempt. In other words, it would prohibit these babies from being killed outside the womb or left to die. According to the Centers for Disease Control, 143 babies survived abortion attempts between 2003 and 2014 – and many more such cases may have gone unreported.

From the Senate

By Sen. Roger Wicker

The need for this bill became clear last year when Ralph Northam, the governor of Virginia, suggested that an unwanted newborn baby should be "kept comfortable" while the mother and doctor determine its fate.

I am disappointed these measures were unable to advance. But I remain committed to standing with all Americans and Mississippians who believe we have a duty to protect the most innocent and vulnerable among us.

Despite the partisan divide in Washington, Americans support these measures by wide margins. A survey taken last year by the Susan B. Anthony List revealed that 77 percent of American voters support protecting babies who survive an abortion attempt – including 70 percent of Democrats. Likewise, 71 percent of Americans oppose late-term abortion, according to a Marist poll taken last year. Bills like these should be a source of common ground, not division.

NO TAXPAYER FUNDING FOR ABORTION

Since 1976, Congress has passed the Hyde Amendment each year, a measure to ensure that taxpayer dollars will not go toward abortion. This protects pro-life taxpayers from paying for something they consider to be morally wrong. No American should be forced to pay for a service that violates their conscience or beliefs.

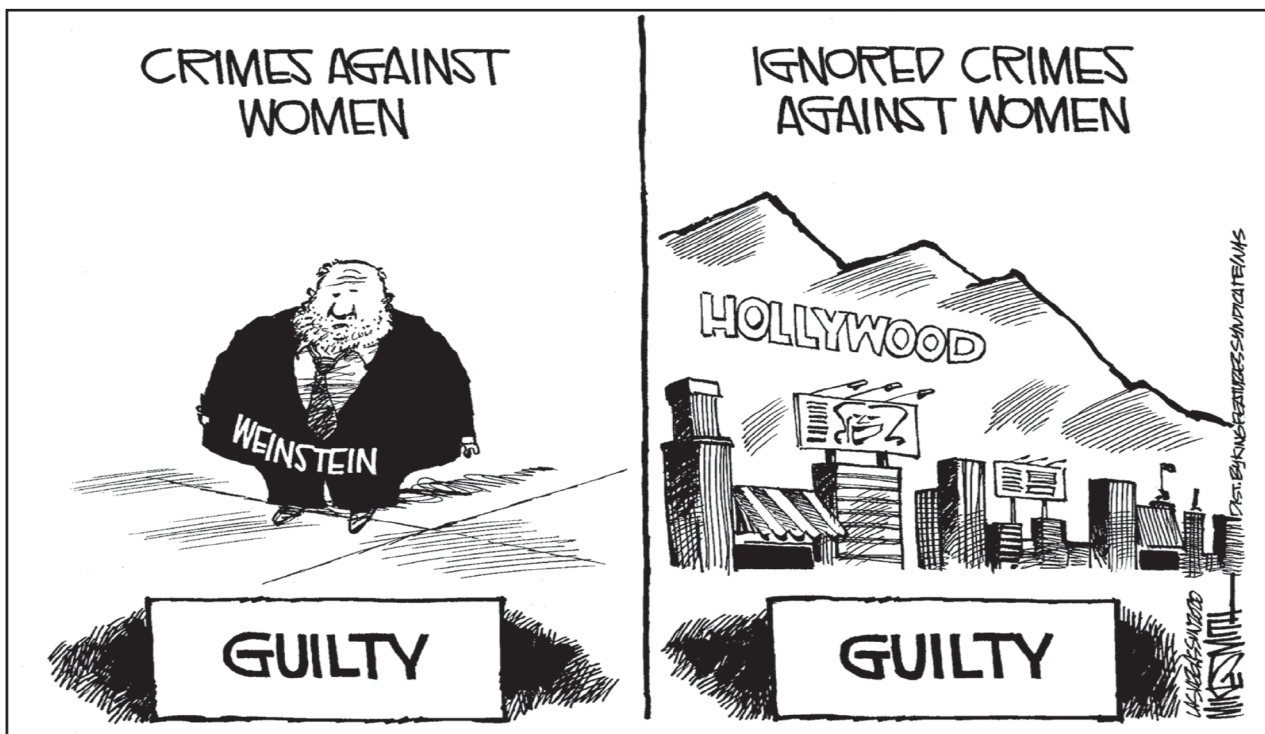

To make this provision permanent, Congress needs to pass the No Taxpayer Funding for Abortion Act, a bill I have introduced numerous times. This would give certainty to pro-life Americans who do not wish to fund abortion. I will continue to work with my colleagues to advance this bill and other proposals that would protect American taxpayers and recognize the inherent dignity of every unborn child.

THE PRO-LIFE CAUSE IS GAINING GROUND

In spite of the gridlock in Congress, the pro-life cause is making progress. Last year nearly a dozen states, including Mississippi, passed legislation to protect life at earlier stages of development. Our friends in Louisiana passed a similar law that will soon be considered by the U.S. Supreme Court. The ruling later this year will include the input of President Donald Trump's two appointees, Justices Neil Gorsuch and Brett Kavanaugh.

Perhaps there is no greater measure of enthusiasm for the pro-life movement than the thousands of Americans who travel to Washington for the annual March for Life. Every January, I see hundreds of Mississippians, and scores of young people, joining in this gathering. These young citizens can play a pivotal role in moving the pro-life cause forward.

Jean Baptiste Le Moyne Sieur de Bienville

Jean Baptiste Le Moyne, Sieur de Bienville, French explorer and colonial administrator, was born in Ville Marie (Montreal), Canada, in 1680.

He was the eighth of eleven sons of the wealthy Charles Le Moyne of Montreal. He joined the French navy at age twelve and during King William's War served at the Hudson Bay engagement against the British in 1696 and 1697 with his brother, Pierre Le Moyne, Sieur d'Iberville.

In 1697 Louis XIV of France announced that he was sending an expedition to occupy the mouth of the Mississippi River. Upon hearing of Louis' plans, Spain sent its own fleet to establish a colony three months in advance of the French ships.

In 1698 under the command of his older brother Iberville, Bienville sailed in search of the Mississippi River. With two hundred colonists they departed Brest, France, on Friday, October 24, 1698, in two armed frigates, La Badine and Le Marin.

Bienville was eighteen years old; Iberville was twenty-eight. Bienville served as midshipman aboard the La Badine.

Sailing around the southern tip of Florida and then northward in the Gulf of Mexico, Iberville and Bienville arrived at Pensacola Bay on January 26, 1699, to find three hundred Spaniards on shore erecting fortifications.

Governor Arriola, who claimed the area in the name of Spain, refused the Frenchmen entry but sent out food and water as they had requested.

entrance to Mobile Bay, landing instead on an island strewn with human bones seeming to indicate that a large battle had been fought there. Iberville called it Isle du Massacre (Massacre Island, now known as Dauphin Island). In reality, the site was a burial mound which had been opened by a hurricane.

Again, they sailed westward carefully charting the depths and finally dropping anchor in the harbor of L'Île aux Visseux (Ship Island) on the morning of February 10. On Friday, February 13, they embarked in two ships' barges for shore, landing somewhere near present-day Beauvoir. The party followed some footprints in the sand eastward through the channel behind Deer Island and eventually made friends with Native Americans they encountered.

From the Indians, Iberville and Bienville learned of the great river to the west. Sailing westward, the Frenchmen entered the mouth of the Mississippi River on March 2, 1699.

About one hundred miles upriver, they encountered Indians who told them about Henri Tonti, the French explorer who had visited there in 1685 and left the "bark that talks" (a letter) with them. Iberville returned to his ship while Bienville located the Mugu-lasha Indians, who took topic to talk about. We all urinate, except for most on dialysis. My dad was non-urinating for six years. It was a big deal when he began again, that meant his kidneys were working. I also think we need to stop being so sensitive when it comes to certain topics, especially about health. But that’s definitely a topic for another day. This month is a good reminder to schedule some time to have your kidneys checked out by a physician. I know, I’m going to try and take my own advice here. I know better, but sometimes I don’t want to know. My family history of these diseases scares me and sometimes I think I would be better off not knowing. But, that is not the attitude I need to have.

I definitely don’t want to be on dialysis one day, even though my own genetic makeup might have different plans, no matter how hard I try to live a healthy lifestyle. But I will continue to try and do so and I hope you will be inspired to take care of your kidney health this month and every month of the year. *Not How Did He Die,
But How Did He Live?*

*Not how did he die, but how did he live?
Not what did he gain, but what did he give?
These are the units to measure the worth
Of a man as a man, regardless of birth.
Not, what was his church, nor what was his creed?
But had he befriended those really in need?
Was he ever ready, with word of good cheer,
To bring back a smile, to banish a tear?
Not what did the sketch in the newspaper say,
But how many were sorry when he passed away.*

A Toast to the Earl of Sandwich

BY LINDA BIGLER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Where would we be without John Montagu, the fourth Earl of Sandwich? He was a British nobleman who would not stop playing cards long enough to eat a meal with a knife and fork. According to history, in 1762 he asked the chef to slap some meat between two pieces of bread so he could eat without having to leave the card table. It is rumored that he spent as many as twenty-four hours at the gaming table without rising. I wonder if he is also the inventor of the adult diaper. As usual, I digress.

Apparently, his sedentary gambling habit had little effect on his longevity. He lived to the ripe old age of seventy-four, which in the eighteenth century was quite good. If you are wondering, there are still some Sandwiches still running around in England. I believe the present one is the eleventh Earl of Sandwich. That is, if he did not marry some American actress, relinquish his title, and move out of the country.

Now that the history lesson has concluded, let us get on to the recipes. I have a few sandwich recipes to present to you. This first is for open faced sandwiches; therefore, I do not recommend playing cards while eating them.

HOT CRAB SANDWICHES

1 pound lump crab meat

1 cup mayonnaise

1 bunch green onions, finely chopped

1 teaspoon horseradish

1 teaspoon salt

One teaspoon lemon juice

One fourth teaspoon cayenne pepper

2 cups finely shredded lettuce (iceberg or romaine)

2 ripe tomatoes cut into 12 slices

6 English muffins, split, lightly toasted, and buttered

12 thin slices mozzarella

Pre heat oven to 350 degrees.

Combine the mayonnaise, green onions, horseradish, salt, lemon juice, and cayenne. Gently fold in the crab meat being careful to leave the lumps intact. Carefully fold in the shredded lettuce. Place a tomato slice on each prepared English muffin half, spoon the crab mixture over the tomato slices, and top with the cheese. Place on a baking sheet and bake for 10 to 15 minutes, or until cheese begins to melt. Serves at once

Serves 6

Hopefully, this next recipe will satisfy any vegans you have to feed. Check the ingredients on the bread label to make sure it does not contain any butter or milk. You can always make your own rye bread.

ALFALFA SPROUT AND AVOCADO SANDWICH

2 avocados, peeled and thinly sliced

1 teaspoon lemon juice

4 tablespoons vegan margarine (yuck!) softened

2 teaspoons deli mustard

8 slices Jewish rye bread

Salt and pepper to taste

1 cup alfalfa or bean sprouts

4 lettuce leaves (Romaine or iceberg)

Sprinkle the lemon juice over the avocado slices. Combine the margarine and deli mustard and spread on the bread slices. Salt and pepper the avocado to taste and arrange on half of the bread slices. Top each with the sprouts, a lettuce leaf, and the remaining bread.

Serves 4

This next sandwich is for the children, but adults have been known to sneak in a couple of bites.

PEANUT BUTTER AND APPLE SANDWICHES

One half cup peanut butter (smooth or chunky)

3 tablespoons honey

8 slices raisin bread, lightly toasted (white bread if your child dislikes raisins)

1 apple, cored and sliced (peel it if your little darling will only eat an apple without the peel)

Combine the peanut butter and honey. Spread on half of the bread slices. Arrange the sliced apple over the peanut butter and top with the remaining bread. Cut in half and serve Makes 4 sandwiches.

What would a column about sandwiches be without the king of all sandwiches? Where I come from a king beats an earl all day long. Of course, it is only my opinion, but I cannot deny my New Orleans roots. The bread and olive salad can be found at your local supermarket that begins with an R.

MUFFULETTA

2 cups olive salad, slightly drained

1 round loaf Muffuletta or Italian bread (about 8 inches across)

4 ounces thinly sliced Italian salami

4 ounces thinly sliced provolone cheese

4 ounces thinly sliced Italian ham

4 ounces thinly sliced mozzarella cheese

Slice the bread in half horizontally, generously brush each cut half with some of the juice from the olive salad.

Place the sliced salami in the bottom half of the bread and cover with half of the olive salad. Cover the olive salad with the provolone cheese, the Italian ham and the mozzarella cheese. Top with the remaining olive salad and cover with the remaining piece of bread. Press down slightly and serve immediately, or tightly wrap and chill.

Serves 4

Some people eat their muffulettas at room temperature, but I like to cut my mine into quarters and place in a 350-degree oven for about 10 minutes or until the cheese begins to melt.

In retrospect, New Orleans has more than one king of sandwiches, the other is the poor boy or po' boy as many now pronounce it.

Meet Max. This handsome, 2 year old Mountain Cur mix is all about the love! We can usually find Max hanging out with our volunteers as they make their rounds spending quality time with our doggies. He is most definitely a favorite of our kennel techs, too. Max gives the best hugs, and we think he is quite the looker. His unique soft coat and striking face are even more stunning in person. So, you know what you have to do, right? Yep, come by and meet Max, take him for a walk, (he loves going for long walks), get some sweet hugs, and fall in love! We have a nice play yard that's perfect for meet-n-greets, so if you have a dog, please bring your pooch along for the introduction. Bring the kids, too. Max is great with children and other friendly dogs. We believe this sweet boy is house trained because he keeps his kennel clean and relieves himself as soon as he is taken outdoors. Max would be the perfect companion for a single person, couple, active retirees and seniors. He would be a remarkable family dog, too. So, come one, come all to 7175 Texas Flat Rd, Kiln, and meet Max. He will surely win you over. Call 228 466 4516 for more information, and visit our Facebook page, Hancock County Animal Shelter, MS, to see more pictures of Max and of the many other wonderful, adoptable animals looking for their forever homes.

TAKING BACK OUR COUNTRY THROUGH OUR SCHOOLS BY GARY ANDREWS

As our students prepare to go back to school for the coming year, we as adults and parents should encourage them to want and desire what we had when we were in school. Even though I have been out of school over 50 years I still remember the Christian teachers I had and their teachings of Christian morals and love for country they instilled into us on a daily basis.

Being a country founded on Christian principles and prayer, we have allowed a very small minority of people to take control and push their non-believing agenda on all of us. We have elected politicians, instead of statesmen, to represent us at our nation's capital. Many of them have fallen prey to the political correctness and the anti-Christian establishment because of the freedoms our forefathers put into place for us. We see more and more discontent toward our county and the weakening of our military that was won for us by the brave men and women of the past that wore the military uniform of the United States and wore it with pride.

We are destroying our great country that was founded on Biblical principles and common sense. Our society of today has accepted ways that lead to immorality and non-Judeo-Christian views and values. We have accepted and given into the negative pressures of teen pregnancy, widespread drug use, disrespect of authority, abortions, pre-marital sex, living together outside the bonds of marriage, homosexuality, and other perverse situations that please man instead of God.

Our modern society has taken a step backward concerning Christian values and patriotism for our great country. Our schools have taken out prayer, devotionals, and even the pledge of allegiance to the flag. We have leaders that want all of the authority and give no respect to what our history says about how great a nation we have been and the world leader that we once were.

It is my prayer and hope that our teachers will once again stand up for what is right and lead by example. Rules and regulations may tell them they cannot do certain things in school that are concerning religion or being patriotic to our country, but they can live and lead a life that a child understands about high morals, good ethics, strong beliefs, and common sense. Children will follow people that lead them whether it is in the right or wrong direction. It is my hope that all schools will once again demand respect from students and the parents will realize how good this can be for our community and our society.

It is my prayer and hope that all of the students will realize the freedoms they have come from God-fearing leaders that gave us a country to be proud of and to stand up for. It is my prayer and hope that our students will go to the Bible for instructions on how to live their lives and treat people around them.

God gave us the Ten Commandments, not for suggestions, but to live by and if everyone would do this then, and only then, will we have peace on earth. Our schools need God again and teachers that will read from the Bible and give daily devotions and prayers that will impact our students. It was this way when I was in school and it worked against the negative pressures and influences of that day and it will work against them today as well.

Prayer: Father God I pray that we will once again turn to you for guidance and leadership. Help us to get out of the way and understand that you are ultimately in control. Amen.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC REVIEW
DRAFT CZMA SECTION 309 ASSESSMENT & STRATEGY
Every five years, the Federal Coastal Zone Management Act (CZMA) requires state Coastal Management Programs (CMPs) to identify challenges and enhancement opportunities within each of nine enhancement areas. The Office for Coastal Management within the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration works closely with state CMPs to prioritize and evaluate state program needs and develop strategies to improve its operations. Public and stakeholder involvement is an important part of this process. A draft CZMA Section 309 Assessment and Strategy for 2021-2025 is available on the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources' (MDMR) website, www.dmr.ms.gov, for public review. The document can be found under the Public Notice section on the MDMR homepage. Public comments on the draft are encouraged and will be accepted through March 10, 2020. All comments should be mailed to Robin Zantow, MDMR, Office of Coastal Resources Management, 1141 Bayview Avenue, Biloxi, MS 39530 or emailed to Robin Zantow at publiccomments@dmr.ms.gov and delivered by 5:00 p.m. on March 10, 2020.

Betty Maxwell's 15th Annual Homeless Veteran Coat and Blanket Drive, and SPCA of Diamondhead Fundraiser was a HUGE success again this year!

BY BETTY MAXWELL

First, I would like to thank Broker Jon Ritten along with RE/MAX Coast Delta Realty for allowing me to use the office as the drop off point for these two wonderful projects. The office staff was wonderful in making their own donations and accepting donations from others. A huge thanks to VFW Post 2880 members Reid Walker and David Motz. These two gentlemen have collected these items for me over several years and made deliveries for me. They collected the many many coats, blankets, hats, gloves, scarves, socks, shoes, sweaters, and so much more for male and female homeless Veterans in not only Hancock County, but into Harrison by the VA Hospital as well. Some items also went to Kings Kitchen in Bay St Louis for our local homeless. We had to bag everything due to it raining the day they picked up items. Thanks to the wonderful ladies of Diamondhead who once again hand knitted caps and scarves for this event. Thanks to so many wonderful local people who are selfless in their contributions. We all made a big difference in a lot of lives for which I am extremely grateful.

On the SPCA side of this annual fundraiser, we collected just shy of $1,800, towels and blankets, food bowls, bedding, and lots of cat and dog food, kitty litter, and treats. All monies were given to the SPCA of Diamondhead to assist in their spay and neuter voucher program. Bedding, and all of the supplies and most of the food went to the Hancock County Animal Shelter on Texas Flat Road, and some food went to the Hancock County Food Pantry. Many people love pets, and struggle to feed themselves yet alone their pets. When you make a donation to the Food Pantry please remember pets of these nice people.

Thank you from the bottom of my heart for anything and everything that you do to assist in providing for the homeless Veterans, and many dogs and cats in our community. I cannot do this alone, and with the help of RE/MAX, VFW Post 2880, and all of you kind and generous folks, we can and do make a difference in many lives. My wish for all of you is a happy, healthy, and safe 2020. I hope I can count on you throughout the year, but especially November 15 through December 15 for my 16th Annual fundraiser.

One more vital thing. Please spay or neuter your pets to help control the pet population. If you need assistance with spaying or neutering your pet please contact the SPCA of Diamondhead for a voucher. This will help to eliminate those poor sweet homeless pets on our streets and roadways. We can control this if we all work together!

Area teams bow out of post-season on hardwood

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The hardwood season has now officially come to a close for the area as the final two boys teams bowed out of the post-season this last week with losses in the second round of the state playoffs.

Two weeks ago, the playoffs began in earnest after the division tournaments concluded on Friday, February 14th.

The Hancock Hawks and the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws both went on the road and fell in the first round of the playoffs. Hancock (9-19), the #3-seed coming out of Region 8-6A, traveled to Northwest Rankin last Tuesday and fell 58-35 to close their season.

St. Stanislaus (9-18), the #3-seed from Division 8-4A, traveled to South Pike last Tuesday. After being up at halftime, the Rocks lost 47-35 ending their 2019-20 campaign.

The Bay High Tigers (21-10) came out of the Division 8-4A tournament as the champion and hosted Jackson-Lanier in the first round on Tuesday, February 18th.

The Tigers were down early in the first period 11-9 but regrouped and claimed a 24-23 lead at intermission.

The Tigers used deft shooting from Elijah Curry to put the Bulldogs on the ropes and eventually come away with a 51-43 victory.

Bay High head coach Randy McCrory commented, "Elijah Curry stepped up his game these past couple of times out on the court. He has had to since we lost two players - Kyren Galloway and Khalil Bell - to injuries. He was not scared of the moment but embraced it. We play Quitman on Saturday and we will have our hands full. They are athletic and long."

The Tigers hosted Quitman on Saturday, February 22nd and stumbled 48-31 ending their season.

The Pass Christian Pirates (16-15), the #2-seed from Division 8-4A, beat North Pike on the 18th 59-51 but fell to Florence 70-44 last Saturday ending their season.

There were three girls teams - Bay High, Hancock, and Pass Christian - that made the post-season but all three squads fell in their first round games last Monday evening.

Until the crowds cross the turnstiles, the lights click back on and the hauntingly familiar scenes of the gymnasiums come back into view in November, see you at the games!

Drum Roll Please...

People always wanna know, "what's the biggest fish to catch down here"? Right off the beach, I doubt you'll find anything bigger than a big ole black drum. Some of these fish get well over 40 POUNDS!!! Our guides look forward to seeing these "sea monsters" every year. Depending on the temperatures, we start seeing the big ones pile in now through spring. The biggest concentrations of these really big black drum seem to be from March through May. I'm not talking 20 miles offshore, I'm talking right off the beach.

Shore Thing Fishing Report

By Cpt. Sonny

Schindler

Large areas of rocks, oysters and or rubble make the best areas to find theses brutes. Piers and rock jetty's are fantastic. The 70 pound MS state record black drum was reportedly caught fishing off the jetty's in Long Beach Harbor.

We recently had my old pal JT Rowell, with X-Mark mowers in Jackson out. He brought down a bunch of fellow dealers and salesmen. Capt Matt and I took the fellas for a great day, in the Bay.

Island, you name it. He still gets a kick out of how hard these big drum pull. I'll be honest, I can't get enough of those drum either. We must've caught, photographed, and released close to 10 of those monsters.

In between the big fish, we caught plenty of sheepshead, redfish and puppy drum. It's kinda the best of both worlds. I've come to really enjoy fishing this time of year. You get to keep enough small ones to eat, and fight all the really big ones you want.

• BIENVILLE

Tonti's letter from a hollow tree where they had placed it fourteen years earlier for safekeeping and gave it to him.

Then, Bienville returned to Ship Island via the mouth of the Mississippi. En route he visited and named Pass Manchac and Lakes Maurepas and Pontchartrain. Meanwhile, Iberville selected a protected site at the landing he had named Biloxi (present-day Ocean Springs) to build a fortification for the colonists.

The log of Le Marin notes, "On Wednesday, the 8th of April, we began to cut down trees with which to build the fort [Fort Maurepas]; all the men worked so assiduously that at the end of the month the fort was finished."

Fort Maurepas became the first capital of that vast country reaching from Pittsburg, Pennsylvania westward to Yellowstone National Park and southward to the Gulf of Mexico.

This was the watershed of the Mississippi River that had been claimed for France and named Louisiana by Renk Robert Cavelier, Sieur de La Salle in 1682.

Having installed Sauvole de la Villantry as governor and Bienville as lieutenant governor, Iberville sailed to France on Sunday, May 3, 1699, to report his success to the king. He arrived at Rochefort, France, on July 2.

On August 25, the Feast Day of Saint Louis, Bienville explored a small bay which he named the Bay of Saint Louis in honor of Louis IX, King of France 1214-1270. Louis IX led the Crusades of 1248 and 1270, dying on his final Crusade. He was canonized in 1297.

In September, Bienville was traveling down the Mississippi when he encountered two English vessels commanded by Captain Barr who had come to claim Louisiana for England. Bienville deceived him into believing the French had established a permanent settlement a little farther upstream. Barr, perceiving himself in a position of disadvantage, turned his ships around and sailed down river leaving assurances that he would return later with reinforcements.

However, he never did. Bienville had saved Louisiana from the English. The point of encounter is still called English Turn.

Bienville returned to the Bay of St. Louis in December and constructed a fort on the highest waterfront elevation on the Gulf of Mexico. The site is immediately north of the present-day intersection of Beach Boulevard and de Montluzin Avenue.

In January 1700, Iberville had just returned from France when the little French fort called La Boulaye was built on the Mississippi about thirty miles below present-day New Orleans. Later, in July a party of Englishmen from Carolina arrived to claim Louisiana for England, but La Boulaye was there to retain the claim of France.

The first two years that Bienville spent in Louisiana were probably the only happy ones of his career because he was not yet saddled with heavy responsibilities. Nevertheless, on August 22, 1701, Governor M. le Sauvole died, and Bienville traveled from Fort La Boulaye to assume the duties of governor at Fort Maurepas, a position he held without formal recognition until he received his commission as governor in 1718.

At the end of 1701, Iberville returned to Louisiana bringing news that France and Spain had joined in war against England.

His orders were to abandon the fort at Biloxi and move closer to the Spanish allies in Pensacola. Then, he sailed once more for France, never to return to the Louisiana Territory.

On January 17, 1702, the building of Fort Louis on a site twenty-seven miles above present-day Mobile was begun. The first family occupied the fort on March 19. By 1704 the colony comprised 187 soldiers and twenty-seven families. Nonetheless, more settlers were needed.

In the summer of 1703, Monseigneur Saint-Villier, Bishop of Quebec, worked to recruit young women of good character from Parisian convents who were willing to be wives of the soldiers at Mobile. By early August 1704, twenty or so women, handpicked by the bishop, were shipped to Mobile to increase the colony; however, the ship brought yellow fever with it, and twenty-two of the settlers died of the disease.

In 1706 Bienville's brother Louis Le Moyne, Sieur de Chateauguay, reached Louisiana with the news that Iberville had died of yellow fever at Havana, Cuba, in July. A severe flood forced the removal of Fort Louis from the Mobile River south to present-day Mobile. The new capital was occupied in 1712.

On September 14, 1712, Louis XIV assigned control of the commerce of Louisiana to Anthony Crozat, Marquis de Chatel. Bienville selected the site of New Orleans as the location of the government, and the village was laid out in 1718. As a result, the seat of government was moved there from Mobile in 1723. Louis replaced Bienville as governor and installed Antoine de la Mothe, Sieur & Cadillac, in his place.

By 1717 Crozat was unable to make his business venture in Louisiana profitable, so he relinquished his commercial charter to the king.

In 1725 Bienville was removed from office and recalled to France. His replacement as governor, Etienne de la Perier, lacked diplomacy in dealing with the Indians, and he proved to be an inept leader. He appointed a drunkard, Chepart, to command at Natchez. All he did was stir up trouble with the Indians because he coveted a hill where they had kept a fire burning since ancient times. Because he had ordered the Indians off the hill, they entered the fort and killed all of the white men except a tailor and a carpenter. Women and children were carried off into slavery, and ultimately Chepart was clubbed to death and beheaded.

The Canadian, Le Seur, leading seven hundred Choctaws, reached Natchez and rescued fifty-one women and children.

Perier arrived, surrounding and capturing about four hundred Natchez whom he sold into slavery in Cuba.

In 1733 Bienville was reinstated as governor because of his knowledge of the province and his good relations with the Indians.

By 1736 the surviving Natchez Indians had combined forces with the Chickasaws. Bienville massed an expedition at Mobile, and in May he confronted their forces at the Chickasaw village on the Tombigbee River. His attack on the highly fortified village was repulsed.

In addition his second campaign against the Chickasaws was even more of a calamity because of illness in the form of a fever which struck his ranks.

Nevertheless, the Chickasaws mistook his forces as an advance party of a larger army and agreed to peace.

In 1743 and in failing health and advancing years, Bienville asked to return to France, thus ending his term as governor.

He died in France in 1768.

Ultimately the Treaty of Paris which ended the Seven Years War awarded England all of France's territory east of the Mississippi River. Such was the end of French rule of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.
